Hal:

This must be my week. Inadvertently I have momentarily become acquainted with one of Jack and Bob K's closest friends, who has a most avid interest in what I'm doing. She is one of the most socially prominent (and wealthy) matrons (34) in San Francisco. She indicated she would be most amenable to cracking the ice with Bobby & Clan, on the subject you mentioned on the phone.

A short, well-typed synopsis on this, alone, would find itself before Bobby's very eyes in short order. Address it to me personally; and bear in mind whose ultimate reaction is to be anticipated.

What with the rest of the stuff enclosed, I damned near feel cruel in asking you to meander down another path right now. But it might be more useful in more ways than either one of us knows at this time and place.....
